No drafts - 180 player decisions - three ways to win

A Discord Fantasy department for managers who want every Sunday to matter.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Arena strips away the barrier that keeps most people out of fantasy sports: the draft. There is no snake draft to schedule and no auction to master. Instead, managers set a full Pyramid-style lineup every single week of the NFL season with one pressure rule: you can never use the same player twice all season.

The result is a no-draft fantasy department that rewards deep football knowledge, creative roster construction, and clean week-to-week engagement from Week 1 through the final whistle of Week 18.

LEAGUE PRIORITIES

1	Maximum Participation No draft means no scheduling headache and no barrier to entry. Anyone can join at any time, even mid-season with admin approval, and immediately be competitive.
2	Engagement and Publicity Weekly lineup decisions drive weekly conversation. Every manager has something to talk about, debate, and show off every single matchday.
3	Accessible but Accountable $10 keeps the league open to everyone while making sure players are genuinely invested. Multiple-team ownership creates even more skin in the game.

Unique, Balanced and Fun

The never-repeat-a-player rule is simple to explain but deep in strategy: elite-player timing, bye-week planning, and late-season survival all matter.

HOW IT WORKS

The Core Rule

- Every week, you set the same starting lineup shape used in The Pyramid.
- Every week, you pick different players.
- By Week 18, each team will have used 180 unique player slots.
- Players used on one team do not block other teams; every team manages its own list.

WEEKLY LINEUP SLOTS x 18 WEEKS

Each manager sets the following lineup every week. Multiply those slots by 18 weeks and you get the total unique player budget for the season.

QB	RB	WR	RWT	TE	K	DST
1 per week	2 per week	2 per week	2 per week	1 per week	1 per week	1 per week
18	36	36	36	18	18	18
1 x 18 = 18 total	2 x 18 = 36 total	2 x 18 = 36 total	2 x 18 = 36 total	1 x 18 = 18 total	1 x 18 = 18 total	1 x 18 = 18 total

180

Season Total

Each team uses 180 unique player slots across 18 weeks. Once a player has been used by that team, that player cannot be used again by that same team for the rest of the season.

M

Multiple Team Ownership

One person can own multiple teams. Each team operates independently with its own player pool, which lets the format scale cleanly from 2 teams to 300 without structural changes.

SCORING AND ROSTER DETAILS

Scoring matches The Pyramid: standard PPR with return-yard bonuses, 6-point passing touchdowns, and QB sack penalties to keep quarterback scoring closer to normal. Whenever possible, scoring is continuous instead of discrete. Full scoring lives on Fantrax.

The weekly lineup is 1 QB, 2 RB, 2 WR, 2 RWT flex, 1 TE, 1 K, and 1 DST. The Arena uses the same roster language and scoring foundation as The Pyramid, then changes the strategy by removing drafts and requiring every selected player to be unique for that team.

THE TRIFECTA: THREE WAYS TO WIN

The Arena can crown winners through three clean competitive tracks. A season can emphasize one track or run the trifecta together so managers have multiple reasons to care every week.

1

TOTAL POINTS

Pure Leaderboard

Every point scored by every player across all 18 weeks is cumulative. The manager with the highest season total wins. Simple, transparent, and perfect for a first season where everyone is learning the format.

2

HEAD-TO-HEAD SWISS

Weekly Matchups

Managers are paired head-to-head based on record. Win your matchup, improve your record, and build toward playoff seeding. This adds rivalries and upset potential to a no-draft format.

3

GUILLOTINE

Multiple Weekly Eliminations

Multiple managers can be eliminated each week based on the lowest weekly scores. Surviving managers carry their used-player list forward, making late-season decisions more dangerous as the player pool tightens.
